to bring clean water to one person in Nepal

WORKING WELL

- Partnership with local implementation partner ECCA
- Reliability and loyalty of our financing partner
- Effectiveness of Nature Club concept developed by ECCA
- Efficiency – conversion of investment into beneficiaries of clean water

LEARNINGS

- Quality of local partnership - People People People
- Commitment to work hard with attention to details
- Collaboration, ability to listen, learn, patience and trust
- Act flexible and agile while staying true to own values and principles

NEXT STEPS

- Partnership with financing partner ends after successful nine years
- Take decision to continue program and seek new financing partner

Lakash Dangol

Zing Junior Nature club of Zing Secondary School, Khokana, Lalitpur (14-15 years)

“When reaching at the doors of houses and in front of people, I was really nervous since it was a new experience. But slowly, my confidence developed. Along with my friends, I could convince people about polluted water related diseases.”

Samridhi Rai

Milestone English School from Nahiti, Lalitpur and President of Milestone Avenger Nature Club (14-15 years)

"I personally have gained lot more knowledge about water purification method and how we can help others to become safe from water borne disease. Previously, we had only learned from the books about water related diseases".
